THE BREAST CANCER SPECIALISTS AT SAINT PETER'S COULDN'T HAVE BEEN MORE CARING.

I've always been there for my son. So nothing was going to stop me from being there at his graduation—not even being diagnosed with breast cancer. The cancer specialists at Saint Peter's University Hospital understood that I had to win the biggest battle of my life for the both of us. Using the latest cancer therapies blended with a level of caring that was nothing short of amazing, I didn't miss one of the most important moments in his life...and mine.
