

"We deliver more than 6,000 babies a year."

— Dr. Suzette Johnson, Obstetrics/Gynecology

"When it comes to delivering your baby, choose a hospital you can trust. At Saint Peter's, we've been caring for women and babies for generations. Our goal is simple: to make sure you have a great birthing experience. Our doctors and nurses guide parents-to-be through pregnancy and delivery.

Using the latest technology, we help give expectant mothers peace of mind with advanced screenings and testing like our revolutionary 4-D ultrasound. Our birthing rooms and mother and baby units have been designed with your comfort in mind. Of course, we all want childbirth to go smoothly, but if there are complications, you can be confident our specialists have the expertise and compassion to care for you and your baby. Saint Peter's has one of the most advanced Neonatal Intensive Care Units (NICU) in the state. Our specialists can handle any level of emergency that may arise, during or after delivery. That's why more parents put their trust in us than any other hospital in central New Jersey."

To find out more about maternity services at Saint Peter's, call Parent Education at 732-745-8579 or visit saintpetershcs.com/maternity

Treating you better...for life.